

Name: Dimitris A. Triantos DDS, Msc, Ph.D

Current position: Private practice limited to oral medicine

Address (work): Kartali 6, 11528, Athens, Greece

Contact details: Tel. ++30-21-77.09.339

Fax: ++30-21-52.22.144

Email: DTRANTOS@HOTMAIL.COM

Brief CV: Born in Kalamata, Greece (21. 08. 1968)

Diploma in Dental Science, University of Athens (1992)

Master of Science in Oral Medicine, University of London (October, 1994)

Doctor of Philosophy in Oral Medicine, University of London (August, 1998)

Research Assistant, Public Health Laboratory Service, Colindale, London (1994-1998)

Research experience: DNA extraction, PCR, single strand confirmation polymorphism (SSCP), DNA cloning, restriction fragment analysis

Clinical Assistant in Oral Medicine, 251 Air Force General Hospital (September 1999-June 2000)

Clinical Assistant in Oral Medicine, Red Cross Athens General Hospital (September 2002-)

Research Assistant: Section Of Oral Surgery & Oral Pathology, Dental School, University of Athens

Publications: 22 the last 7 years in Greek and international journals

Lectures/Oral presentations: 30 in the last 7 years in Greek and International Congresses

Member of European Association of Oral Medicine and 4 other scientific societies

Clinical duties: diagnosis & management of oral ulcers, white/red/pigmented patches, lumps and swellings, oro-facial pain, dry mouth, halitosis, alterations of taste, bad breath, stomatodynia, neck lumps, HIV-related oral lesions, oral precancerous & and cancerous lesions

Research interests: the study of association of infectious agents with oral diseases (HHV-8, EBV, HCV etc) using molecular methods, the dental aspects of HIV/AIDS, oral complications of immunosuppressed individuals

Unmarried, fluent in English, other interests include music, traveling, cinema, internet, reading books